BLOODHOUNDS GET CLUE.

The police at Portsmouth believe that the slayer of Policeman Winiegder either escaped from that section yesterday morning on board an early freight train on the Atlantic Coast Line or the Southern Railway, or is now hiding in the Pig Point section, opposite Newport News. After a vigorous search of the Shea farm, near Pinner's Point, they are convinced that the fugitive had been in that vicinity, and they believe that they have in their possession his handkerchief, from which he had tried to wash the blood stains.

Early yesterday morning the police were notified by Mail Carrier Kellan that he had seen a suspicious negro who answered the description of the murderer on the Shea farm and a detective took the bloodhounds that have been used on the case and went immediately to the farm.

The dogs took the trail within five minutes and were shortly in full cry, plunging through the bushes and undergrowth. They ran along the creek for some distance and the officers followed as closely as they could. Suddenly the hounds stopped and began baying over some object on the ground. The officers rushed up and found one of the dogs with a blood-stained handkerchief. The dogs followed the apparently still warm trail across the railway tracks, through a negro settlement and toward Pinner's Point, where it was lost.

Coast Line and Southern Railway points have been notified, and the police of every settlement contiguous to these roads are on the lookout for the murderer. A large posse of officers and armed citizens went to Pig Point last night with the hope of finding the fugitive there.

CIGARETTE IN A SUICIDE'S MOUTH.

Calvin T. Cropper, 21 years old, son of Thomas J. Cropper, committed suicide at his home, at Ocean City, Md., late last night, by blowing his brains out with a pistol. Family troubles had been preying on Mr. Cropper's mind for sometime, and for a month or more he had threatened to put an end to his life.

Last night he went driving with a young lady, to whom he was paying much attention, and who had been a chum of his since school days, and told her he was going to kill himself, but she only laughed at his threat, and believed he would soon get over his despondent mood.

On their return home Mr. Cropper, passing his mother and brother, who were sitting on the porch, went to his room and locked the door. A second later a shot was heard, and the brother rushed up stairs, broke in the door and found Calvin lying on the bed, pistol in hand, with his coat off and a cigarette in his mouth, and blood flowing from the gaping wound in his temple.

Drs. Townsend and Baggett were immediately summoned, but death followed in a few moments. Mr. Cropper was well known and much liked in Ocean City, and had complete charge of the ice plant of his father. He was very sensitive, and had many disagreements with his father.

SOUTHERN MAGAZINE.

The announcement of the resumption of the Southern Literary Messenger in Richmond has been received with pleasure by people throughout the south. Those who knew the magazine years ago need not be reminded that it was the most deservedly popular publication of its time. It is believed that its revival will receive the support and cooperation of every one who has the interests of the south at heart. It will be of inculculable benefit in bringing together in one periodical the best writers. The new Southern Literary Messenger will give something distinctive in appearance as well as in quality, something that will breathe the warm perfume of the magnolias and something as wholesome as our traditonal home life. The Messenger will sing the sweet songs of Dixie and carry the reader back to the old plantation but above all it will typify the character, individuality and personality of our new south. The editors of the Southern Literary Messenger, Dr. Warren W. Phelan of the University of Chattanooga, and Mr. Ludlow Sinclair Smyth of Front Royal, Virginia, are making a tour of the south visiting the representative people in the various localities, interesting them in the movement, and at the same time collecting valuable material for publication. They have secured the services of several well known southerners to take charge of departments in the magazine.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

FRIDAY EVENING, AUG. 14, 1908.

NEW YORK republican politicians are having hard luck with their governors. Eight years ago they found Mr. Roosevelt troublesome, and attempted to get rid of him by making him vice-president. Every sort of thing has happened as the result of that. One of the things that Mr. Roosevelt made them do was to nominate Mr. Hughes. He was elected—the only man they nominated—and they wish he hadn't been. They seek now to get rid of him and don't know how. The national convention would not take him off their hands. He's a good man, but, as says the Philadelphia Record, that's the difficulty; they have no use for good men. They are afraid to refuse to nominate him, and they do not want another term of him. As they gathered in New York Wednesday for the meeting of the state committee to call the state convention they were a dejected lot.

MR. TOM LAWSON, of Boston, has sprung the biggest stock speculation scheme of his career. He says he purposes to fight the "System" with its own weapons. Through advertisements in many newspapers, he asks the public to subscribe a billion dollars for the 20,000,000 shares of what he calls "national stock" which in reality is the old Bay State Company, originally incorporated to do a gas business. The charter however, allows it to own and operate banks, railroads and industries, to hold any kind of stock in existence and carry on all kinds of business. Mr. Lawson says he hopes to have 20,000,000 stockholders. It is not believed, however, that he can find many people big enough fools to entrust their money with him in such a scheme.

J. E. RICHARDS, leader of the Anti-Saloon League, in Georgia, has recently admitted that prohibition has proved a failure in the State. He says it is easy to get all the "joy juice" one wants in Atlanta. "Why," says Dr. Richards, "one fellow has even had the nerve to put up a sign 'The beer that made Milwaukee famous.'" You can get any old brand you want. You can get whisky, too. Twenty-seven car loads of beer and whisky have been shipped in here. What do you suppose they use it for? To water the gardens? Not much." This is the same old story. Prohibition has been a failure wherever tried.

THE leading experts of Great Britain, Germany and Belgium in the prevention of mine accidents have been invited by the American Geological Survey to come to this country to assist in establishing that line of work here with experimental stations, such as exist in Europe. Last year 3,200 men lost their lives in the mines of the United States, and this is two or three times as great a proportion as were killed in the mines of any European nation. George S. Rice, consulting coal mine engineer of the Geological Survey, has gone to Europe to study methods there, and it is hoped his trip may have beneficial results.

BY the time the republicans settle their differences in New York, Ohio, West Virginia, Wisconsin and several other States the campaign will be half over. Formerly the democrats had much the same experience, but now they are harmonious and united from Maine to California.

THE British foreign office, announcing the conclusion of a modus vivendi regarding the Newfoundland fisheries, says that the governments of Great Britain and the United States unite in regarding the exchange of notes on the subject as constituting an agreement for the season of 1908.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, Aug. 14.

That the Philippine Assembly exercises a greater degree of power than the Russian douma, is the belief of Senor Manuel L. Quezon, chairman of the estimate committee of the former body, and who is stopping over in Washington after a visit to St. Petersburg. "The powers given to the douma by the Russian empire," he said today, "are broader than those conceded by act of Congress to the Philippine Assembly, but up to the present, and notwithstanding that the douma has had three sessions, all of them together have not had as much effect, in the administration of Russian affairs, as the first session, which has just terminated, of the Philippine Assembly has had in the affairs of those islands.

A general hot wave followed by rains then lower temperature, is predicted by the Weather Bureau in a special forecast issued today. It says: "A barometric disturbance will advance from the Rocky Mountain districts to the Atlantic coast from August 14 to 18, crossing the plains States Saturday, the central valleys and lake region Sunday and Monday, and the Atlantic States Monday and Tuesday, preceded by rising temperature, attended by rains that will cover the corn and spring wheat states and followed by a period of lower temperature.

Returning from the important conference of naval officers at Newport, Naval Constructor Robinson has immediately set to work completing the original specifications for the two new big battleships, the Florida and Utah.

Mehmed Ali Bey, until recently Turkish Minister to the United States, is stranded. It developed today that the reason he has not yet left Washington is that he has no ready cash with which to pay for the transportation of himself and family. He is waiting for a special messenger who is said to be en route here from Izzet Bey, his father, bringing the necessary money. Mehmed is not a poor man, but all his own money is tied up in Constantinople. The messenger is expected daily.

A plan is being outlined for the organization of a special torpedo board, to handle the details of the construction of the fleet of torpedo boat destroyers and submarines which are now either under construction or about to be built.

A positive cure for tuberculosis has been found by Surgeon Burton I. Wright of the United States naval hospital at Las Animas, according to a report published by him in the current number of the American Medical Bulletin just out.

Virginia News.

Col. H. M. Boykin, was fined $5 yesterday after a fight with W. L. Walters in Richmond.

An epidemic of typhoid fever prevails in Henrico county, where it is estimated that 60 persons are down with the disease.

Lloyd, the four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Duke, of Nurney Siding, died Wednesday night as the result of falling into a vessel of boiling water on Sunday.

It is reported that Wyndham R. Meredith, of Richmond, who recently declared for Taft, is to be urged to become the republican candidate for governor next year.

The Virginia League of Municipalities met in Portsmouth in annual convention last night. Many mayors and other high officials of cities and towns of the state were present.

Dr. Thomas D. Davidson, a well-known southern educator, who at one time was president of Stonewall Jackson Institute, at Abingdon, died suddenly yesterday at the home of his son, at Wytheville, aged 81 years. He had taught in institutions at Atlanta, Ga., and at Petersburg.

Miss Myrtle Jones, the 12-year-old daughter of George B. Jones, of Spottsylvania county, was burned to death at her home Wednesday night. She was filling an oil stove, struck a match and a piece fell into the oil-can, causing the explosion. Her sister and brother threw a blanket around her, but she died from her injuries in a short time.

State health officers, acting under the direction of the pure food commissioner, have made a visit to all the bakeshops in Richmond and have made a report to the commissioner. The report is of such a nature that peremptory orders were issued directing that in every instance changes should be made in the manner of kneading dough and baking and handling the bread after it is baked. The flour and other ingredients are to be kept in a cleanly manner.

W. S. Gregory, the dentist, was yesterday in Richmond sent on to the grand jury to answer a charge of attempted assault on Miss Theodora Irvin while she was chloroformed in his office. Gregory maintained that it was all an hallucination. The trial in police court lasted two days. Gregory was released on $10,000 bail. E. M. Coulter and Lee Keedick, two friends of Gregory's alleged victim, were fined $50 for beating the dentist.

DROVE ASSAULTER FROM HIS PREY.

Holding off the frenzied mother at the point of a cocked revolver and defying her to rescue her child, Sullivan Bennett, of Martinsburg, W. Va., who was recently released from jail there, yesterday afternoon made an attempt to criminally assault the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. Beckner, of that city.

Mrs. Beckner saw Bennett drag the child into a room at the plant of the Martinsburg Gas Company, a short distance from her home, and when she hastened to the scene Bennett drew his revolver and told her he would kill her if she entered the room. Mrs. Beckner ran to her home, telephoned for her husband and the police, and, snatching up her husband's revolver, returned to the gas plant and compelled Bennett to release the child.

Bennett hid in some bushes in a nearby park, but was captured by the police.

This is the second attempt Bennett is alleged to have made to criminally assault the child during the past three days, and the police were compelled to rush him to the lock-up to prevent trouble with a crowd that quickly gathered.

Conviction for a crime of this character may be punished by death in this state.

BIG STICK FOR BRYAN.

Several hundred farmers from Otoe county, Nebraska, headed by H. H. Hanks, of Nebraska City, who went to Lincoln to attend the notification ceremonies, rode out to Fairview yesterday, and presented the democratic nominee with a "big stock" gourd. They also handed him a campaign contribution of $50 subscribed by 50 of their number.

In accepting the gourd and the contribution Mr. Bryan said:

"The gourd which you present certainly looks very much like the 'big stick' as we have seen it caricatured, and I think that the gourd is a fitting emblem to represent republican policies, for the 'big stick' which has been so loudly praised has not accomplished a great deal in the way of actual legislation. Republican leaders have so steadfastly opposed reform that the 'big stick' has been quite empty—as empty as this gourd—in actual results. Then, too, the gourd may fitly symbolize the hollowness of republican promises.

"I shall be glad to accept the 'big stick' gourd although if the democratic party wins; the 'big stick' will not be in evidence. The democratic idea is not coercion by force, but a justice that will appeal to the hearts of men, for it is easier to lead people through their love than to control them through their fears."

The Market.

News of the Day.

Three thousand people yesterday attended the funeral of the Gavin sisters who were on Wednesday burned to death at Wheeling, W. Va.

George Clayton was given a sentence of 364 days in jail by Judge Kimball, in the police court, of Washington, yesterday, when convicted of assaulting Edward Moore, sixty-five years old.

The report that the Cunard Steamship Company has finally decided to abandon Queenstown as a port of call and run to Plymouth has caused little surprise in shipping circles in London.

The wife of Enrico Caruso, the famous tenor, has eloped from Florence, Italy, to England, with a young friend of the singer, according to a Trieste newspaper, Il Paccolo, copies of which were received in New York yesterday.

The liquidation of the old Panama Canal Company, which has been going on since 1889, was completed in Paris yesterday when the civil tribunal of the Seine authorized a last payment to creditors of 1 per cent. and issued a decree of discharge to the receivers.

The inmates of St. John's Church Orphanage, Washington, journeyed to the Zoo today for an outing, as the guests of the Washington Lodge of Elks. All the little folks were provided with horns and much tooting on the way to the park is expected.

Andrew Schafler, a widower, residing with his daughter, Mrs. Kate Jones, in Baltimore, drank a quantity of muriatic acid about 6:30 o'clock last night. He was attended by Dr. M. C. Freilinger, who had him sent to the Maryland University Hospital where he died.

Mrs. Margaret Ann Gault, aged 92 years, widow of the late Cyrus Gault, and a daughter of Capt. William Atkinson, who served in the American navy during the war of 1812, died of the infirmities incident to old age at the residence of her daughter in Baltimore, yesterday.

The culmination of a sick-bed romance which had its beginning in New Rochelle occurred in Clinton, near Worcester, Mass., yesterday, when E. Edward Peterson, a wealthy New York manufacturer, made Miss Alice Eliot Stevenson, formerly a pretty nurse of Baltimore, his wife.

Roger Quarles Mills, former United States Senator from Texas, who was operated on last Wednesday at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for intestinal trouble, was reported late last night to be doing remarkably well, and hopes are entertained by those in charge that the patient will be able to leave the hospital in a very short time, possibly within the next 10 days.

In an effort to have one man re-employed in a bakery shop, on Lexington avenue, New York, from which he had been discharged for refusing to join the bakers' union, journeymen bakers one hundred strong wrecked the bakery of Pincus Jacobs early yesterday. The police were called out to disperse the excited people and several arrests were made.

The large brick brick building of the Deal Milling Company of Cumberland, four stories, burned last night. An apartment house, owned by Deal Bros., adjoining, was gutted, and a brick building, occupied by John Wiegand as a saloon, Paul Nice Warner using the upper floor as a residence, was damaged. The still atmosphere alone was responsible for saving much of the property, nearly all of which was frame.

David Moore, a farmer near Anderson, Ind., lost a four-months-old colt by death, and as the animal appeared to be healthy and vigorous up till death, a post mortem was held. It disclosed the presence of two hearts. One heart was in correct position, but abnormally large. The extra heart was of normal size, but located back of the liver. It is supposed that one of the hearts had been inactive till shortly before death, when the extra heart began beating and the increased pressure burst a blood vessel.

With her feet tightly bound together and a stocking stuffed down her throat, Mrs. Adeline Miller, of St. Louis, Mo., 49 years old, was found dead Wednesday night by her husband, a mail clerk, when he returned from work. The face and throat of the woman were discolored from strangulation, and she had evidently been dead several hours. The police are searching for a young man who is said by neighbors to have called on Mrs. Miller Wednesday.

Before a big audience at the Epworth League assembly at Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday night, Senator Robert M. LaFollette expressed great admiration and friendship for William J. Bryan, while insisting that he himself was a republican. The fight against the railroads to secure lower rates and no discriminations, he said, had been started back in the seventies by Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. These policies, he added, were not the product of the minds of either Bryan or Roosevelt. A man in the audience accused LaFollette of being a democrat, but he denied it.

The local police, with the assistance of the sheriff and the county solicitor, yesterday began search for property worth $7,000, including $6,000 in money, the loss of which was reported by Mrs. Persis Thompson, of West Chesterfield, N. H. Mrs. Thompson, who is a widow, stated that valuables had been hidden in a pillowcase and locked in a trunk in the garret of her house, the doors, windows and shutters of which she had carefully nailed up from the inside before leaving the place last Tuesday to visit her daughter, in a nearby town. When she returned last night she found that a door had been burst open and the house rifled.

With Engineer Charles Strange lying injured alongside the track and the fireman busy on the back of the tender, at Battle Creek, Michigan, the Grand Trunk Flyer, east bound, ran four miles yesterday afternoon with no guiding hand at the lever and with the 200 passengers in the coaches ignorant of the fact that they were riding on a runaway train. Finishing his work on the tender, the fireman returned to the cab to find the engineer's seat vacant. The fireman brought the train to a stop and backed it up until the engineer was found lying beside the track with his left arm and left leg broken, one shoulder crushed and his skull fractured. It is supposed that the engineer lost his balance in leaning from the window or gangway to look for a hot box. He was taken to a hospital, where it was said there was a chance that he might recover.

Balloon Explosion.

London, Aug. 14.—In the terrible explosion of the huge balloon of Captain Lovelace, the American aeronaut at the Franco-British exposition grounds, today, the earth was rocked as by an earthquake, two persons were killed outright, including Miss Blanche Hill, the captain's secretary, three fatally hurt, a score burned in the mass of flames that shot from the torn gas bag, and fifty injured in the panic that followed the explosion.

Captain Lovelace is himself in a dangerous condition due to his injuries, grief, and the excitement attending his personal supervision of the work of rescue.

The balloon was being inflated preparatory to a sail and a great crowd was watching the work. When the huge bag was nearly filled, a bystander lighted a match, in violation of warning conspicuously posted near the balloon. Instantly there was an explosion that made the earth tremble. The bag was rent asunder and a wall of flame enveloped scores that were standing closest to the balloon. A terrible panic ensued and many were hurt in the scramble for the gate.

The escaping crowd met an onrush of spectators who were attracted by the explosion and a wild mix up followed.

Captain Lovelace, burned and stunned, tried heroically to calm the crowd and directed the work of rescue of those who had been rendered unconscious by the explosion. The bodies of two men were taken from the ruins. The captain finally collapsed under the strain and is now in a serious conditions.

Immediately following the explosion, the balloon shed caught fire and was destroyed. It is feared that when the ruins of the shed are searched, other bodies will be found.

King Edward.

Marianbad, Aug. 14.—King Edward began his annual "shaping up" at Marianbad, the famous Bohemian health resort, this morning. Here amid the hills and forests the king will remain for a few days taking the water cure.

There was such a rush of visitors to see his majesty today and his routine was so interrupted by the curious, that the mayor finally issued an appeal, which was posted all over the place, that the public should not molest the royal guest, but allow him the privacy of an ordinary mortal.

Twenty Austrian detectives tried to protect the king from the rush of sightseers, but he finally had to give up his first promenade, jump into a fiacre, and hasten to the seclusion of his modestly furnished rooms at the hotel.

During the king's stay he must arise at six a. m. and begin the day with a large glass of water from the spring of the Cross. This rigid regime isn't exactly to the king's liking, but he is here to cut down his avoirdupois.

Geneva, Aug. 14.—What the police assert was a well developed plot to assassinate King Edward and Emperor Francis Joseph, as the two monarchs conferred together at Ischl, Wednesday, was frustrated by the arrest of two notorious Italian anarchists at the railway station, at Langen, on the Swiss Tyrolese frontier. After a rigid sweating by the police, during which the anarchists outwitted the officers in shrewdness, they were sent back to Italy.

Rev. Cordova Free.

Trenton, N. J, Aug. 14.—J. Frank Cordova, the unfrocked Methodist preacher, who twice deserted his wife and children at South River, and eloped with Julia Bowne, a choir girl, completed a four year's term in State prison this morning and left the institution at an early hour. Accompanied by reporters, he was taken to the rooms of the Trenton Press Club, where he was given breakfast, after which he was taken to Bristol, Pa., to get a train. He refused to say where he was going and would only give out this statemen:

"I think that after having paid the penalty that was imposed upon me, I should be allowed the chance to begin life all over again, and to do a man's work in life."

Cordova will live in seclusion in Philadelphia or New York for a time to earn some money after which he will go to Mexico where he will eventually be joined by Miss Bowne.

Atlantic Highlands, N. J., Aug. 14.—Mrs. J. Frank Cordova, wife of the former minister, declares that under no conditions will she return to her husband or have anything to do with him. She states that she has neither had any communication with Cordova, nor will she have any. Mrs. Cordova runs a boarding-house here and is held in the highest respect by the community. Her three children are carefully kept.

Agricultural Advance.

Baltimore, Aug. 14.—Under the heading "America's amazing agricultural advance," the Manufacturers' Record in this week's issue will say:

"The increase in the value of farm property of $3,000,000,000 between 1900 and 1907, is nearly nine times as great as the aggregate national banking capital of the United States.

It is nearly three times as large as the aggregate savings bank deposits of the whole country. In all the records of American development nothing is more remarkable than the advance made during the last few years by the agricultural interests of the country. The story of what the farmers are doing and of what they have accomplished within the last few years is unmatched even by the marvelous growth in manufacturing.

Race War.

Pensacola, Fla., Aug. 14.—The sheriff of this city, his deputies, and hundreds of armed citizens today are scouring the vicinity for George Croombs, a negro, who assaulted Mrs. Et. Mocklair, a young matron four miles from Pensacola. The whole community is wrought up to a high pitch of excitement through this sequel to the recent assault on Mrs. Davis, which proved fatal, and if Croombs is captured a battle with the officers is feared, as the mob will surely make a desperate attempt to lynch him.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Aug. 14.—The decline in Rock Island that started just as the rest of the market showed a rally quickly developed into a downward movement and stocks suffered severely all around the room. The losses in general in the first hour ranged from 1 to 2 points. All kinds of rumors were in circulation about Rock Island to account for the break in the issues of that company. One was of some possible receivership this year or next.

Romantic Wedding.

Paris, Aug. 14.—Charmed by the beauty of a barefooted Italian girl, whom he saw drawing water from a fountain in Rome and who reminded him of a Welsh sweetheart whom he had unsuccessfully wooed in the little town of Beddgelart, in north Wales, Lewis Niles Roberts, millionaire artist, of Boston, has just wedded the former, after her completion of a two years course in a Paris school, wither Roberts sent her that she might be prepared to grace his studio. Gina Pictra was the maiden name of the young wife.

Five years ago, Roberts, a tall, athletic young man, who inherited the fortune of his father, a rich publisher, of Boston, engaged quarters at Coast Island in Beddlegart to pursue his art studies and collections amid the quaint North Wales surroundings. In the course of his ramblings he met the Welsh maid whose dark eyes ensnared him. She lived with her mother on a moorland farm. She was all the mother had and though Roberts urged his claims and met with a full response from the dimpled little country girl, the mother would not give her up. Though it was the greatest sacrifice of her young life, the little girl acceeded to her mother's wishes and refused to marry the "stranger," as her mother called the lovelorn artist and poet.

Roberts left Beddelgart immediately and went to Rome. In one of his wanderings he met Gina. He asked if he might take her photograph. She replied that she allowed no one but her father to take her pictures. "Is he an artist?" Roberts asked. "I must see him."

Gina led the way to the little house and there Roberts found the father, an artist, in poor circumstances. In a short time he and Gina were betrothed. He sent her to Paris, where he had a beautiful house, that she might be educated, with the understanding that their wedding would follow the completion of her course. The romantic fulfilment has just taken place and today Gina, the girl wife, is the pet of the elite of the French capital.

Society Women Fined for Smoking Opium.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 14.—Mrs. C. Stephenson and Mrs. George Davis pleaded guilty to a charge of smoking opium, in the justice court here, and were fined $50 each. They paid the fine and with bowed faces left the courtroom, making their way through a curious crowd of friends and spectators who had gathered to witness what promised to be a sensational trial. The persons are well known in Reno, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Stephenson having taken a prominent part in social functions here. They have also entertained lavishly. Their arrest came when they were captured in an opium joint in the act of smoking opium. The capture was made by members of the State police. The prisoners, though they made no defense, claimed that they smoked opium upon advice of physicians.

Cut and Shot to Pieces.

New Orleans, Aug. 14.—John J. Carrall, a veteran policeman was cut to death here today, by a negro cook, who was afterwards shot to death in a Louisville & Nashville Pullman car, at one of the city's busiest stations. Carroll was called to settle a dispute between the cook and the negro porter of the car. When Carroll interfered the cook grabbed a big knife and disemboweled him. Carroll drew his gun and, weltering in his blood, fired at the negro as long as he could see. He died in a few minutes. Police from a near by station at once surrounded the drawing room car in which the cook, armed with a revolver, had sought refuge. They rushed the negro's stronghold and literally blew the body to pieces with their bullets.

Cardinal Gibbons.

Rome, Aug. 14.—Cardinal Gibbons returned from Orvieto today and was immediately received in farewell audience by the pope, preparatory to his departure for London to attend the Eucharistic Conference. The pope is preparing a letter of commendation of the work of the Apostolic Mission House, in Washington, which, he told the Cardinal, he would soon publish. The cardinal also called on Papal Secretary of State Merry del Val.

BATHING AN INDIAN GOD.

Thousands of pilgrims from the various outlying villages and other parts of the Hooghly district poured in from an early hour in the morning to the Temples of Jagernath.

The image of the god is placed on a conspicuous part of the temple, so that it can be viewed at an advantage by the immense crowd of pilgrims, and there at a certain fixed hour the bathing ceremony commences.

The most curious part of the festival is that water is not poured on the image of the god until a certain small bird is found sitting on the topmost banner of the temple. There is a popular belief that the bird comes from Puri, the famous place of Hindu pilgrimage, to Mahesh on the day of this festival, and his very presence is an indication that the ceremony should commence. Immediately after the bath is over the bird disappears.

HELD FOR THE GRAND JURY.

Edward Morris and Harvey Lunsford, who were arrested a few days ago on suspicion of stealing a barrel of whisky, the property of Joel M. Cochran & Co., from the Potomac yards, were given a hearing before Justice Caton yesterday afternoon. Lawyers Edmund Burke and Howard W. Smith appeared for the prisoners during the hearing. The accused were sent on to the grand jury.

Mr. Samuel G. Brent represented the commonwealth and the hearing occupied an hour or more. From facts learned it is not clear that the boys arrested are the guilty parties, expected from the confession they are purported to have made to Chief Goods and a railroad detective, and during the hearing Mr. Burke claimed that the confession was obtained with the understanding that these people would be held blameless for the robbery. The boys denied making any confession of the nature claimed. It was not proved that these boys either had or sold any whisky, or even that the whisky ever reached Alexandria either in bulk or small quantities. They were held in $1,000 bail each for the next grand jury. The chief of police, however, seems to think he has convincing proof of the guilt of the accused and the officers of the force are collecting a train of evidence, which they think is good ground for the suspicions entertained.

ABUSIVE CITIZEN.

Yesterday evening a saloonkeeper who came to the station house to watch developments in the cases of two young men, who were accused of stealing a barrel of whisky, from the Potomac yards, north of this city, became very abusive to an officer who was standing in front of the station house and with him as an audience he made a general attack on the entire force. Although there were three or four officers there he kept this up till Chief Goods arrived and then he thought he would admonish this official with the result that he was picked up bodily and landed in a cell. He was released on $10 collateral. This morning the case came up for a hearing and Officer Beach, Lieut. Bettis and Chief Goods, testified to the abuse showered upon them and the determination of the saloonkeeper, who said he intended getting even with the officers in question. Justice Caton in deciding the case said that the offender had pursued the wrong course in an effort to "get even," as he said, with officers who had done him wrong. He said as long as he was in the office he could protect the officers of the police department from insult, and said they were abused enough anyhow for many causes. He imposed a fine of $10, which was paid.

WANTED HIM RELEASED.

Yesterday a colored woman who represented herself as the mother of Harvey Davis, colored, who it will be remembered is serving a term in jail subject to the chain gang and who escaped and was captured a day or two ago and had 40 days more added to his sentence by Justice Caton, approached the police justice and asked the smallest amount for which her son could be released. The Justice told her the limit. She said she was so sorry her son had gotten into this difficulty at this time, as he had joined the church and was such a help toward bringing the wayward to repentance and in other ways. She told the justice that her boy would not have attempted to escape if he had not been put on the gang, and it so happened that this body of old offenders were operating in the neighborhood of the church where so many of his brethren and sisters lived. She left the office of the police justice and Harry perhaps will stay where he is, partly persuaded to remain by a ball and chain.

WORTHLESS CHECK.

Her anxiety to rent a room caused Mrs. Lena Smith, of Washington, to lose her natural caution yesterday afternoon, and she cashed a check for $20 for her prospective boarder. The check proved worthless, and Mrs. Smith lost $4, the difference between the check and the amount charged for the room.

The prospective roomer was well-dressed and gave the name of Henry Heiner. He offered to pay the rent in advance and gave a check. The rent was $16, and Mrs. Smith gave him the difference. The check was drawn on the "Metropolitan Bank" of Alexandria.

RECKLESS BICYCLISTS.

The reckless riding of bicyclists on King street especially between Fairfax street and the river is causing considerable comment. At night most of them have no lights on their wheels and they travel down the hill at a rapid gait. As a number of children loiter about that section of the city and as it is a thoroughfare for those who seek the wharves for a cool breeze, the authorities might see to it that the law, at least covering bicycles, is enforced.

EXCITEMENT ON QUEEN STREET

Quite a crowd was attracted to the corner of Queen and Pitt streets about noon today, occasioned by a former resident of this city, but who now lives in Philadelphia, unmercifully beating the child of a well known citizen of Pitt street. The woman in question used a lath as her weapon for which she will have to answer in police court tomorrow morning.

THE WEATHER.

There appears to be no chance for an immediate change in the temperature, which has remained high both day and night for several days past. The mercury at 8 o'clock this morning registered 85° and by noon it had reach 92. A light breeze, however, made the heat less oppressive.

BIG LIQUOR CASE MOVES ON.

In the Court of Appeals in Richmond yesterday, a writ of error and supersedeas was issued in the case of the Robert Portner Brewing Company against the State Corporation Commission, in the so-called Roanoke liquor cases.

The Portner Brewing Company objects to the decision of the commission, whereby brewers and distillers and wholesale dealers were denied the rights accorded to retailers in the shipments of liquor into "dry" districts. This is the case in which both parties in the "dry" towns of Marion, Radford, Saltville and Abingdon appealed from the decision of the commission, the towns objecting to the sale and delivery of liquor by the retailers, and the wholesalers objecting to the privileges accorded the retailers.

The case may be heard at the Staunton term of the court next month, appeals from the commission having precedence in the Court of Appeals

The effect of the writ granted yesterday is to suspend the judgment of the Corporation Commission and the Portner Company can now ship its beer into "dry" territory. In the proceedings the Portner Company was represented by Mr. S. G. Brent, of this city.

OLD ESTABLISHED HOUSE.

Located at the northeast corner of Royal and Cameron streets, and doing a safe and immense business is the wholesale liquor and general commission establishment of W. A. Johnson & Co. For the past forty years this enterprising firm has held a flattering business trade in this city and throughout the surrounding country. During this period the business was conducted by Mr. James B. McWilliams, who died some time ago, who everyone will remember as one of the most charitable men that ever lived—never turning a deaf ear to an appeal for help, but on many occasions being badly imposed upon. The business is still in the same family and in charge of Mr. John J. McWilliams, his brother, whom has lived in this section all his life and who is loved and respected by those who know him. Mr. John Dwyer is his able assistant in the business and adds strength to an already stable house. Their specialties are Gibson's Son & Co's pure rye whiskies one of the best line of goods on the market. This house has been a constant advertiser and friend of the Gazette ever since the business was established.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT.

The committe on arrangements for Alexandria Day at Luna Park, for the benefit of the Alexandria Hospital, held an enthusiastic meeting at the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce last night. Mayor Paff was unanimously asked and agreed to proclaim Wednesday, the 19th instant, a holiday. Every Sunday school scholar of this city and Washington will be invited to the park to enjoy the liberal entertainment which will be provided for them. The committee to wait on Capt. Baldwin will visit Fort Myer this afternoon. Capt. Slaymaker has received formal invitation to have his command give an exhibition drill on the occasion. Mr. E. E. Downham has called a meeting of the Friendship Veteran Fire Association for Monday evening, when arrangements for an exhibition by their old engine will be completed. It is hoped that every reader of this paper will vie with the committee and make this the greatest benefit the hospital has had.

GATHERING EVIDENCE.

The chain of evidence is gradually tightening around the negroes who were last week turned over to the county authorities for highway robbery. A letter has been received by a hardware merchant in this city from a Mr. A. M. Roberts, of Fauquier, and has been turned over to the chief of police. In the letter Mr. Roberts states that early last week, while near Spring Park, he was robbed by three negroes of his watch and a fountain pen. He says he would be able to identify the negroes. He gives a description of the watch, which tallies with the memorandum of the police. Mr. Roberts offers $5 reward for the recovery of the watch and $10 for the arrest of the highwaymen.

DEATHS.

John E. Posey, the three-months-old son of Mr. Dennis and Mrs. Mary R. Posey, died at his parents' home on Duke street last night.

Major Hall, the fifteen-months-old son of Mr. Luther Hall, died last night at the home of his grandfather, Mr. L. W. Huffman, No. 2014 Franklin street.

Mrs. Mary Palmer, of Alexandria county, mother of Sheriff William H. Palmer, died at her home yesterday, aged 85. She was the widow of the late James Palmer, of Loudoun county. Two sons survive.

Mrs. Rothmund, mother of Mr. Carl Rothmund, of this city, died at Anacostia, D. C., on Wednesday.

RESCUED TWO FROM DROWNING

An item appeared in these columns a day or two ago that Mr. Chester Scott had saved an old lady from drowning at Colonial Beach. It should have read that while a canoe was being paddled near the excursion steamer a gentleman and lady was thrown overboard, caused by the swells from the steamer, and that Mr. Scott rescued them both.

OFFICE FINISHED.

The new office of the Norfolk and Washington Steamboat Company has been completed, and Mr. C. W. Wattles, the agent, will move into it in a day or two. The factory for the manufacture of vinegar, the promoters of which have leased the two buildings at the corner of Prince and Union streets, is a large undertaking. These gentlemen have extensively improved the property and expect to begin operation within a month, and will employ a large number of people.

BASEBALL TOMORROW.

There will be a game of baseball on the fair grounds tomorrow evening at 5:30 o'clock between the Virginia Stars and the Cardinals. The batteries will be—Stars, Smith and Tremsry; Cardinals, Schofield and Cockrell. Both teams are well matched and have this season played three very closely contested games.

The Hess Oxfords, "the finest", reduced. $4 00, $5.00 and $6.00 grades go at $3.90. J. A. Marshall & Bro., 422 King street.

QUANTITY OF WOOL STOLEN.

A. H. Taomas, proprietor of Hayfield farm, Fairfax county, has reported to the police that his storage room in Fairfax county was recently robbed of a large quantity of wool. He said in the letter that three fleeces were stolen a few nights ago from the storage room. He also said that the robbery has been a systematic one and he had several times laid traps to catch the thieves, without success. Mr. Thomas, therefore, seeks the aid of the police in apprehending the thieves. So far as known, none of the wool was disposed of here, although a search is being instituted.

MOVING PICTURES.

At the Alexandria Amusement Company's hall tonight there will be two new and laughable reels exhibited. One, "Love Will Find a Way," and "One Man Baseball." In addition "The White Squaw" will be shown. This is a great cowboy and Indian show. Come out and see the pictures.

Alexandria Gazette.
FRIDAY EVENING, AUG. 14, 1908.

Marie de' Medici.

The tastes of Marie de' Medici, wife of Henry IV. of France, were splendid, and she indulged them to the full. One of her collars of venetian point was alone "worth the eyes out of a man's head," and she had a fine store of them. Describing her as she arrayed herself on a typical occasion in a costume of carnation satin, M. Batiffol, in "The French Court in the Seventeenth Century," continues as follows:

"This arranged to her satisfaction, her jewels, of which she has quantities scattered in different cabinets, must not be forgotten nor yet her ring. Her gold bracelets, studded with seventy-two small diamonds, were purchased from Francois le Prestre, jeweler of Paris, for 1,050 livres. Her earrings, two great diamonds surrounded by lesser brilliants, were made by the jeweler, Jean Subtil. Her gold watch, valued at 2,100 livres, is 'oval in shape and ornamented with several diamonds,' and she must not forget to place in her pocket for use at mass the 'rosary of enameled gold, embellished with diamonds,' a trifle worth 9,600 livres. And, thus adorned, the queen must yet perfume herself."

Clearing It Up.

"To which is a man more closely related," said the genealogist, "his first divorced wife's second husband or his present wife's first divorced husband?"

"So far as I can see, one tie is about as close as the other," said a thoughtful friend.

"So I should say," said the genealogist, "but Billy Bowen must have figured out a difference. Anyhow, when his first wife's second husband died Billy went to a ball game, but when his present wife's first husband died he went into mourning. I can't understand that."

"I can," said the thoughtful friend. "Billy's present wife was on the point of divorcing him so she could remarry her first husband. Now that he is dead she has decided to stick to Billy."

"Ah!" said the genealogist.—New York Press.

Always Waning.

A Frenchman who apparently has a good deal of time on his hands has been amusing himself by reckoning up the number of kisses he has given his wife during the first twenty years of his married life.

He finds that in the first year he dispensed about 100 kisses a day, or, say, allowing for birthdays and legal and church holidays, about 36,700 in the year.

In the second year this number was reduced by half and in the third year to ten a day, while in the fifth year his better half had to be content with two a day, one in the morning and one in the evening.

What happened in the fifth year is "wrapped in mystery," but at the same rate of "progression" he probably arrived eventually at one kiss on the first of January every leap year.

Freedom of the Press.

The battle for a free press in the full modern sense was fought out between 1764 and 1771, beginning with the prosecution of Wilkes for attacking Bute in the North Briton and ending with the successful resistance to the proclamation by which the commons had forbidden the publication of their debates. Six printers who had infringed the proclamation were summoned to the bar of the house. Five obeyed, and the messenger of the house was sent to arrest the sixth. The lord mayor sent the messenger to prison. The house of commons sent the lord mayor to the Tower, but he was released at the next prorogation, and the day on which he left the Tower marked the end of the last attempt to silence the press.—New York American.

The Real Version.

Napoleon sat inadvertently upon a smoking cannon and scorched the seat of his white trousers.

"I cannot turn back now," he muttered to an aid as he hastily dismounted. "I have burned my britches behind me!"

This historic expression has been grossly corrupted by later writers.—Pathfinder.

The Supreme Test.

"You are all right," said the doctor after he had gone through with the regulation thumping and listening with his patient. "Not a trace of heart disease. Fifteen dollars, please!"

The patient drew a long breath and remarked: "I am sure now I have no heart disease. If I had, I should have dropped dead when you mentioned your fee."

Fun Missed In Air Traveling.

It may be a great achievement for a balloon to travel at the rate of seventy-five miles per hour, but what is the fun in skipping along at that rate when you cannot see the telegraph poles or constables whiz past? The pleasure in speed is in passing things that stand still or go slower.—Boston Advertiser.

A COLOSSAL BLUNDER.

Millions Spent on Subway Loop May Be Wasted—All Plans Held Up. Bridge Problem Still Unsolved.

After spending thousands of dollars on temporary makeshifts, preparing classic designs for a permanent station at the Park row terminal of the Brooklyn bridge and after the $10,000,000 subway loop between the bridges is half completed the city officials have suddenly discovered that all of their efforts and expenses will probably prove worthless.

Plans for the ornate Park row terminal station, prepared months ago, have been held up pending a decision by engineers as to whether it will even be possible to run trains around the sharp curve and up the steep grade from the already half completed subway to and upon the Brooklyn bridge, and yesterday the crowning blow came when it was announced that the Brooklyn Rapid Transit system, for which the loop was virtually being built, had refused to operate it upon any terms.

At the same time Public Service Commissioner Edward M. Bassett announced that even if it be found practicable for heavily loaded trains to make the sharp turn and negotiate the heavy grade it would be impossible to operate the trains across the Brooklyn bridge until that structure is entirely rebuilt, owing to the tremendous weight of the trains.

Thus the city finds itself committed to the building of a $10,000,000 subway loop which seems likely to prove practically worthless when completed and without any operator unless the city operates the loop itself, which, officials declare, would not be practicable.

City officials admit that a huge blunder has been made somewhere and that it looks as if the city will find it has expended from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 without making any appreciable progress in solving the bridge problem.

No further steps can be taken toward the building of the big Park row terminal until some decision is reached as to whether the subway loop will be physically connected with the Brooklyn bridge. The entire design of the terminal structure depends upon this.

As originally planned it was intended that the tracks from the subway loop should be carried directly to the bridge. It was admitted that the grade from the loop, which crosses Park row underground and then rapidly ascends until it reaches a grade level a short distance east of the present terminal of the bridge, was steep, but it was said by the designers that trains could ascend the grade.

Since that time Chief Engineer Chandler Withington of the finance department has made a report saying that to take trains up this grade every car would have to be equipped with a powerful motor, and this would add so much weight that the bridge would be overloaded. The addition of a motor to each car would also prove to be a huge expense, which it is not believed any operating company would stand. Other operating engineers took the position that it was almost impossible to negotiate the grade.

Some time ago Bridge Commissioner Stevenson asked the board of estimate to authorize him to let contracts for the lowering of the elevated railroad tracks on the bridge into the subway loop. He would then advertise the contract for the new terminal station. Engineer Withington raised the points as to grade and extra weight, and the board of estimate held up the matter until the public service commission's experts could solve the problem.

Since that time Commissioners Bassett and McCarroll have been hard at work. Yesterday they submitted their report to the commission. Their report confirms the worst fears that had been aroused.—New York World.

Bees and Their Baskets.

Every bee carries his market basket around his hind legs. Any one examining the body of a bee through a microscope will observe that on the hind legs of the creature there is a fringe of stiff hairs on the surface, the hairs approaching each other at the tips, so as to form a sort of cage. This is the bee's basket, and into it, after a successful journey, he will cram enough pollen to last him for two or three days.

Gray and the Elegy.

Thomas Gray kept the elegy by him for nine years before he gave it to the world. He polished away at it all those years as a lapidary polishes a gem, and the result was he made it a gem. In his whole life he wrote comparatively little, and when asked why he had written so little he replied, "Because of the exertion it costs in the labor of composition."

Diverting Attention.

"So you favor the suit of that foreigner?"

"Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I think I should rather like to have a man in the family whose English mother and the girls can criticise instead of mine."—Washington Star.
